

---

ABSTRACT

B<sup>1</sup> When drawing up a hierarchically structured document in an author file, a reference to a data record of a file already stored in the authoring system can be generated. The author file is sub-classified into individual data records which are 5 respectively stored as pages on an Internet server. The added reference is converted into an HTML page address.

---